

Discovery and assembly of your own skeleton watch (T19.2)

Objective of the course

At the end of the module, the participant is able to understand and explain the functioning of a watch simple (skeleton).

Target public

Anyone interested to discover the watch-making world

Prerequisite

You must have participated in the course Initiation (T19.1 module "initiation")

Description of the course

The course allows to get acquainted with the watch-making world and to discover the technical terms used in watch-making. It includes:

- Dismantling and assembly of a mechanical movement made by a professional
- Panorama of the various components of a watch
- Technical information connected to the watch-making
- Understanding and functioning of a mechanical watch
- Assembly of a mechanical watch which the participant will take at the end of the course

The course is limited to 5 participants

Finances : CHF 1250.00 per person, including support of course, the material of work, the kit of exercise and the watch made by yourself

Place : Fondation Horlogère, Rue des Malvoisin 2, 2900 Porrentruy, in association with AvenirFormation

A certificate of follow-up of course will be supplied at the end with the course. A guarantee of 1 year on the watch will be supplied to you by ourselves.